PRAKATA

Ada begitu banyak cara bagi seorang anak untuk bercerita. Sebagian memilih kata-kata, sebagian memilih warna dan garis, sebagian lagi mungkin belum menemukan cara untuk menjelaskan apa yang mereka rasakan. Namun, melalui karya, mereka menemukan ruang untuk mengatakan: ini yang saya lihat, ini yang saya pikirkan, dan inilah dunia yang ingin saya ceritakan. Dari keyakinan sederhana itulah Global Children's Literacy and Art Initiative lahir.

Sebagai pendiri dan penganisiasi kegiatan ini, saya ingin menghadirkan sebuah ruang yang tidak sekadar meminta anak-anak menghasilkan karya, tetapi memberi mereka kesempatan untuk berekspresi, didengar, dan dihargai. Literasi dan seni bagi saya bukan hanya tentang kemampuan atau pencapaian, melainkan tentang keberanian anak untuk mengenali dirinya, memahami lingkungan, mengembangkan imajinasi, dan melihat dunia dari sudut pandangnya sendiri.

Antusiasme yang kami terima dalam penyelenggaraan perdana ini menjadi pengalaman yang sangat berarti. Sebanyak 432 karya telah dikirimkan oleh anak-anak dalam bentuk puisi, cerita pendek, gambar, dan lukisan. Di balik setiap karya tersebut ada seorang anak dengan pengalaman, imajinasi, pertanyaan, kegembiraan, bahkan mungkin kegelisahan yang ingin disampaikan. Tidak seluruh karya dapat ditampilkan dalam pameran ini. Sebagian karya terpilih melalui proses kurasi, sementara seluruh karya yang masuk tetap menjadi bagian penting dari perjalanan dan catatan awal gerakan ini.

Kami juga bersyukur atas keterlibatan 38 calon narasumber yang berasal dari berbagai latar belakang, serta para dewan juri yang telah memberikan waktu, pengetahuan, dan perspektifnya dalam proses kurasi. Kehadiran mereka memperlihatkan bahwa ruang kreatif bagi anak bukanlah tanggung jawab satu pihak, melainkan ruang bersama yang dapat dibangun melalui kolaborasi.

Bagi saya, pameran ini bukan tentang siapa yang paling baik di antara karya-karya yang ada. Lebih dari itu, pameran ini adalah tentang memberikan kesempatan kepada anak-anak untuk melihat bahwa apa yang mereka pikirkan dan ciptakan memiliki tempat. Semoga ketika mereka melihat karya mereka terpajang, mereka membawa pulang satu keyakinan sederhana: bahwa suara mereka penting dan kreativitas mereka berharga.

Saya berharap Global Children's Literacy and Art Initiative tidak berhenti pada pameran ini. Semoga ia tumbuh menjadi ruang yang semakin luas, mempertemukan lebih banyak anak, penulis, seniman, pendidik, budayawan, dan masyarakat dari berbagai tempat serta latar belakang. Semoga dari ruang kecil ini lahir karya-karya baru, persahabatan baru, dan percakapan lintas budaya yang terus berlanjut.

Terima kasih kepada seluruh anak yang telah berani berkarya, kepada orang tua dan pendamping yang memberi dukungan, kepada para juri dan narasumber, serta kepada semua pihak yang telah membantu mewujudkan kegiatan ini.

PREFACE

There are so many ways for a child to tell a story. Some choose words; some choose colors and lines; while others may not yet have found a way to explain what they feel. Yet through their creations, they find a space to say: this is what I see, this is what I think, and this is the world I want to share.

It is from this simple belief that the Global Children's Literacy and Art Initiative was born.

As the founder and initiator of this initiative, I wanted to create a space that does more than simply ask children to produce works. I wanted to give them an opportunity to express themselves, to be heard, and to be valued. For me, literacy and art are not merely about skills or achievements. They are about giving children the courage to recognize themselves, understand their surroundings, develop their imagination, and see the world from their own perspectives.

The enthusiasm we received during this inaugural initiative has been a deeply meaningful experience. A total of 432 works were submitted by children in the forms of poetry, short stories, drawings, and paintings. Behind each work is a child with experiences, imagination, questions, joy, and perhaps even uncertainties they wish to express. Not all of the submitted works could be presented in this exhibition. Some were selected through a curation process, while every work submitted remains an important part of the journey and the early record of this movement.

We are also grateful for the involvement of 38 prospective speakers from diverse backgrounds, as well as the members of the jury who generously contributed their time, knowledge, and perspectives to the curation process. Their involvement demonstrates that creating meaningful creative spaces for children is not the responsibility of any single party, but a shared space that can be nurtured through collaboration.

For me, this exhibition is not about determining which work is the best. More than that, it is about giving children the opportunity to see that what they think and create has a place in the world. I hope that when they see their works displayed here, they will take home one simple belief: their voices matter, and their creativity is valuable.

I hope the Global Children's Literacy and Art Initiative will not end with this exhibition. May it grow into an increasingly wider space that brings together more children, writers, artists, educators, cultural practitioners, and communities from different places and backgrounds. May this small beginning inspire new works, new friendships, and meaningful cross-cultural conversations that continue to flourish.

My heartfelt gratitude goes to every child who has had the courage to create and share, to the parents and guardians who have supported them, to the jury panels and speakers, and to everyone who has contributed to making this initiative possible.
